

In developing, manufacturing, and selling products, we have established an internal management system to prohibit or restrict the use of chemical substances contained in products with respect to the composition of parts, raw materials, and materials (including materials and sub-materials) that constitute the products or materials used in manufacturing processes, and to comply with laws, regulations, and customer requirements.

We have established an internal management system for the purpose of complying with laws, regulations, and customer requirements. The management of chemical substances contained in products is basically conducted in accordance with the list of chemical substances posted on the GADSL website (www.gadsl.org) and the rules stipulated in the customer guidelines.
